ORDINANCE 1984 No.24

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Unlawful Games Ordinance 1984 substantially reproduces in the form of a new Ordinance those provisions of the Police Offences Ordinance 1930 relating to unlawful gaming and unlawful machines which have now been repealed. The new Ordinance is administered by the Department of Territories and Local Government and preserves previously existing offences, whilst providing for increased penalties for such offences.

Amendments consequential upon the making of the Unlawful Games Ordinance 1984 are contained in the Lotteries (Amendment) Ordinance 1984, the Pool Betting (Amendment) Ordinance 1984 and the Liquor (Amendment) Ordinance 1984.

The Unlawful Games Ordinance 1984 also clarifies the legal status of so-called draw poker machines in the ACT. Such machines are unlawful under the Unlawful Games Ordinance 1984 subject to the provisions of the Poker Machine Control Ordinance 1975. The Poker Machine Control (Amendment) Ordinance 1984 now enables licensed clubs to install such machines on their premises on the same basis that poker machines are permitted
