An Act relating to Protection of Enclosed Lands from Intrusion and Trespass

Short title

1. This Act may be cited as the Enclosed Lands Protection Act 1943.¹

Repeal of State Act

2. The Inclosed Lands Protection Act, 1901, of the State of New South Wales, shall cease to apply to the Territory.

Interpretation

3. In this Act, unless the contrary intention appears—

“Enclosed lands” means any lands, whether public or private, enclosed or surrounded with any fence, wall or other erection, or partly by a fence, wall or other erection, and partly by a canal or by some natural feature, such as a river or cliff, by which the boundaries of those lands may be known or recognized and, where a road is lawfully enclosed with the lands of any person, those lands, but not the road, shall be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, the enclosed lands of that person;

“road” means any land proclaimed, dedicated, resumed or otherwise provided as a public thoroughfare or way and any land defined, reserved or left as a road in any sub-division of lands;

“stock” includes horses, cattle, sheep, goats and pigs.

Penalty for unlawful entry upon enclosed lands

4. (1) Any person who, without lawful excuse (proof whereof shall lie upon him), enters into the enclosed land of any other person, without the consent of the owner or occupier or the person in charge of those lands, shall be guilty of an offence.

Penalty: Ten dollars.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the expression “lawful excuse” in the last preceding subsection, a drover or person in charge of stock being driven upon a road lawfully enclosed with the lands of any person shall be deemed to have lawful excuse for entering those lands for the purpose of preventing the stock from straying or of regaining control of stock which have strayed from that road.

(3) Where a road is lawfully enclosed with the lands of any person and the road is not clearly defined and—

- (a) where there is a reasonably defined track commonly used by persons passing through those lands—the centre of the track shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the centre of the road; or
- (b) where there is no reasonably defined track through the lands—a person passing through the lands shall not be guilty of an offence against this section unless it is shown that the route taken by him in so passing was, having regard to the circumstances, unreasonable.

Penalty for leaving gate open

5. (1) Any person who enters into or upon the enclosed lands of any other person, and wilfully or negligently leaves any gate open or slip-panel down, shall be guilty of an offence.

Penalty: Twenty dollars.

(2) Any person who enters into or upon any road lawfully enclosed with the lands of any other person through any gate (other than a public gate as defined in the Public Gates Act 1901, of the State of New South Wales, in its application to the Territory) or slip-panel, and wilfully or negligently leaves that gate open or that slip-panel down, shall be guilty of an offence.

Penalty: Twenty dollars.

Requirement to furnish name etc.

6. (1) If the owner, occupier or person in charge of enclosed lands believes on reasonable grounds that another person is committing an offence against this Act, he or she may require that other person to give his or her full name and residential address.

(2) A person shall not refuse or fail to comply with a requirement under subsection (1).

Penalty: $20.

Owner may destroy goats

7. Any owner, occupier, or person in charge of enclosed land may destroy any goat (other than a goat which is legibly branded or which has around its neck a collar on which the name and address of its owner is legibly engraved) found trespassing thereon.
