Editorial changes

The Legislation Act 2001, part 11.3 authorises the Parliamentary Counsel to make editorial amendments and other changes of a formal nature when preparing a law for republication. Editorial changes do not change the effect of the law, but have effect as if they had been made by an Act commencing on the republication date (see Legislation Act 2001, s 115 and s 117). - (2) A person who has been accused of an offence and is being held in custody in relation to the offence is not entitled to be granted bail in respect of any period during which—
 - (a) he or she is in custody for some other offence or reason in respect of which he or she is not entitled to be granted bail; or
 - (b) he or she is in custody serving a sentence of imprisonment.

6 Rights following grant of bail

If—

- (a) bail is granted to an accused person in respect of an offence; and
- (b) he or she gives an undertaking to appear; and
- (c) if a bail condition is imposed—it is entered into;

the person is, subject to this Act, entitled to be released (if in custody) and to remain at liberty in respect of the offence until he or she is required to appear before a court in accordance with his or her undertaking to appear.

7 Bail for minor offences and breaches of the peace

- (1) This section applies to—
 - (a) all offences not punishable by a sentence of imprisonment (except in default of payment of a fine); and
 - (b) all offences punishable by a term of imprisonment not exceeding 6 months.
- (2) Subject to subsection (3), a person charged with an offence to which this section applies is entitled to be granted bail without any condition and, if the person is in custody, he or she shall be released from custody as soon as he or she has given an undertaking to appear.
- (3) Subsection (2) does not apply to—

 - (ii) if a condition to keep the peace is imposed—enters into an agreement under section 25 (1) (a).
- (3) However, the person is not entitled to be granted bail under subsection (2) if—
 - (a) because of the behaviour that resulted in the person being arrested, someone else would be likely to make application for a protection order under the Protection Orders Act 2001 against the person; or

 - (b) someone who is not entitled to bail because of section 7 (3); and
 - (c) someone who is not entitled to bail because of section 7A (3).
- (2) However, this section does not apply to the grant of bail—
 - (a) by an authorised officer to a person accused of a domestic violence offence (see section 8A); or
 - (b) by a court or an authorised officer to a person accused of a serious offence that is alleged to have been committed while the person was on bail for another serious offence (see section 9A).
- (3) If this section applies to a person, the person is entitled to be granted bail in accordance with this Act unless—
 - (a) the court or authorised officer is satisfied that refusal is justified having regard to—
 - (i) if the accused person is an adult—the matters mentioned in section 22 (Criteria for granting bail to adults); or
 - (ii) if the accused is a child—the matters mentioned in section 23 (Criteria for granting bail to children); or
 - (b) the requirement for bail is dispensed with under section 10 (Dispensing with bail).

8A Bail by authorised officer—domestic violence offences

- (1) This section applies if someone (the accused) is accused of a domestic violence offence.
- (2) An authorised officer must not grant bail to the accused unless satisfied that the accused poses no danger to a protected person during the period of bail.
- (3) However, even if the authorised officer is satisfied under subsection (2), the officer must refuse bail if satisfied that refusal is justified having regard to—

- (a) if the accused person is an adult—the matters mentioned in section 22 (Criteria for granting bail to adults); or
 - (b) if the accused is a child—the matters mentioned in section 23 (Criteria for granting bail to children).
- (4) If an authorised officer grants bail to the accused under this section, the officer must, in the record of the decision made under section 27 (Recording of certain bail decisions), state why, in the officer’s opinion, the accused poses no danger to the protected person.
- (5) The accused must not be released on bail under this section unless the accused has given an undertaking under section 28 (Undertaking to appear) to appear before the stated court within 48 hours of being released.

- (6) For this section:

protected person—

- (a) means a person against whom the alleged behaviour constituting the domestic violence offence was directed; and
- (b) includes a relevant person in relation to a person mentioned in paragraph (a).

9 Bail for persons sentenced to imprisonment

- (1) This section applies if—
- (a) a person has been convicted of an offence by a court and sentenced to a period of imprisonment for the offence; and
 - (b) an appeal is pending in relation to the conviction or sentence (including an appeal against a decision on appeal).
- (2) Despite anything else in this Act, a court must not grant bail to the person unless it is satisfied that special or exceptional circumstances exist justifying the grant of bail.

9A Bail for serious offence committed while charge for another is pending or outstanding

- (1) This section applies if—
- (a) a person is accused of an offence punishable by imprisonment for 5 years or more (a serious offence); and
 - (b) the person is alleged to have committed the offence while a charge against the person for another serious offence is pending or outstanding.

Examples

- 1 Julianne is served with a summons to attend the Magistrates Court to answer a charge that she has committed the offence of taking a vehicle without authority (punishable by 5 years imprisonment under the Crimes Act 1900, section 111, and so a serious offence under paragraph (a)). Before the court date, Julianne is arrested and charged with having committed an armed robbery the day after being served with the summons (punishable by 25 years imprisonment under the Crimes Act 1900, section 92, and so also a serious offence under paragraph (a)). At the time of the alleged armed robbery, the charge of taking a vehicle without authority was still pending (see below s (6)). Section 9A will apply to any decision about the grant of bail to Julianne in relation to the armed robbery charge.
 - 2 Julian is arrested and charged with burglary (punishable by 14 years imprisonment under the Crimes Act 1900, section 93, and so a serious offence under paragraph (a)). He is granted bail. Before the charge is heard in the Magistrates Court, Julian is again arrested, this time for a theft committed while he was on bail (punishable by 10 years imprisonment under the Crimes Act 1900, section 89, and so another serious offence under paragraph (a)). At the time of the alleged theft, the charge of burglary was still outstanding (see below s (6)). Section 9A will apply to any decision about the grant of bail to Julian in relation to the theft charge.
- (2) A court or an authorised officer must not grant bail to the accused person unless satisfied that special or exceptional circumstances exist justifying the grant of bail.
 - (3) However, even if special or exceptional circumstances are established, the court or officer must refuse bail if satisfied that refusal is justified having regard to—
 - (a) if the accused person is an adult—the matters mentioned in section 22 (Criteria for granting bail to adults); or
 - (b) if the accused person is a child—the matters mentioned in section 23 (Criteria for granting bail to children).
 - (4) Also, if a serious offence mentioned in subsection (1) (a) or (b) is a domestic violence offence, an authorised person must refuse bail to the accused person if satisfied that refusal is required by section 8A (Bail by authorised officer—domestic violence offences).
 - (5) This section does not prevent the application of section 8A to the accused person if—
 - (a) a serious offence mentioned in subsection (1) (a) or (b) is a domestic violence offence; and

(b) an authorised person grants bail to the accused person.

(6) In this section:

outstanding—a charge against a person for a serious offence is outstanding—

- (a) until the charge is finally dealt with in any of the following ways:
- (i) the charge is withdrawn;
 - (ii) the charge is dismissed by a court;
 - (iii) the person is discharged by the Magistrates Court following a committal hearing;
 - (iv) the person is acquitted or found guilty by a court of the offence charged; and
- (b) if the person is acquitted or found guilty by a court of the offence charged, but a new trial on the charge (or a charge based on the same facts) is later ordered on appeal—from the date the new trial is ordered until the earliest of the following happens:
- (i) the charge (or a charge based on the same facts) is finally dealt with as mentioned in paragraph (a) (i), (ii) or (iv);
 - (ii) the order for the new trial is reversed on a further appeal.

Note Found guilty, of an offence, includes having the offence taken into account under the Crimes Act 1900, s 357 and having an order made in relation to the offence under the Crimes Act 1900, s 402 or the Children and Young People Act 1999, s 96 (see Legislation Act 2001, dict, pt 1).

pending—a charge against a person for a serious offence is pending if the person has not yet been charged with the offence, but—

- (a) the person has been arrested for the offence, unless the person is later released without being charged with a serious offence; or
- (b) a summons to appear before a court to answer a charge for the offence has been served on the person; or
- (c) the person has, at the invitation of a police officer, signed an agreement to attend court to answer a charge for the offence (known as a ‘voluntary agreement to attend court’ or by a similar name).

(7) This section applies in relation to a decision to grant bail made on or after the commencement of the Bail Amendment Act 2001 (No 2) even if any relevant serious offence is alleged to have been committed before that commencement.

Part 2 Availability of bail

Section 9A

- (8) Subsection (7) and this subsection expire 2 years after the commencement of the Bail Amendment Act 2001 (No 2).

Part 3 Dispensing with bail

10 Dispensing with bail

- (1) A court that may grant bail to an accused person may instead dispense with the requirement for bail.
- (2) In determining whether to release an accused person from custody without requiring bail, a court may have regard to any information which appears to the court to be relevant and reliable.
- (3) If, during an appearance by an accused person before a court, no specific order or direction is made by the court in respect of bail, the court shall be deemed to have dispensed with the requirement for bail.
- (4) Subsection (2) does not apply if, under section 33 (3), the court is to be taken to have continued bail.
- (5) A court must not dispense with the requirement for bail for an accused person to whom either of the following sections apply unless satisfied that special or exceptional circumstances exist justifying dispensing with the requirement:
 - (a) section 9 (Bail for persons sentenced to imprisonment);
 - (b) section 9A (Bail for serious offence committed while charge for another is pending or outstanding).

11 Effect of dispensing with bail

- (1) While the requirement for bail is dispensed with under this Act in respect of a person accused of an offence, the person is entitled to be and to remain at liberty in respect of the offence until he or she is required to appear before a court in respect of the offence.
- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to an accused person while he or she is in custody for another offence or reason in respect of which he or she is not entitled to be at liberty, whether under this Act or otherwise.

12 Decision to dispense with bail

For part 6, if a court dispenses with the requirement for bail, the court shall be deemed to have made a decision in relation to bail.

Part 4 Grant of bail

the police officer who charges or arrests the person—

- (c) shall inform the person, or cause the person to be informed, that he or she may—

- (4) A police officer who charges or arrests a person may refrain from complying with subsection (1) (c) (ii), (iii) or (iv) if he or she believes on reasonable grounds that it is necessary to do so to prevent—

 - (b) the loss, destruction or falsification of evidence relating to the offence.
- (5) If a police officer who charges or arrests a person refrains from complying with subsection (1) (c) (ii), (iii) or (iv) for a reason specified in subsection (4), he or she shall record, or cause to be recorded, his or her reasons for not so complying.

- (2) If the authorised officer is satisfied, having regard to the applicable bail criteria, that—

- (a) it is appropriate to release the person on the person giving an undertaking to appear; and

- (b) it is not necessary to impose a bail condition;

the authorised officer shall release the person on the person giving that undertaking.

- (3) If the authorised officer is satisfied, having regard to the applicable bail criteria, that it is not appropriate to grant bail to the accused person without imposing a condition, the authorised officer shall, having regard to—

- (a) the conditions that may be imposed in granting bail to a person; and

- (b) the extent to which the imposition of 1 or more bail conditions would be appropriate having regard to the matters specified in whichever of sections 8A (1), 22 and 23 applies to the making of a determination regarding the granting of bail to the accused person;

- (2) An authorised officer shall, on being requested to do so by an accused person in respect of whom he or she has made a decision of the kind referred to in subsection (1) (a) or (b), provide the person with reasonable facilities to communicate with a legal practitioner.
- (3) An authorised officer who refuses to grant bail to an accused person may refrain from complying with subsection (1) (e) or (f) and subsection (2) if he or she believes on reasonable grounds that it is necessary to do so to prevent—
- (a) the escape of an accomplice of the accused person; or Uncommenced amending laws and expiries are listed in the legislation history and the amendment history. These details are underlined. Uncommenced provisions and amendments are not included in the republished law but are set out in the last endnote.

If all the provisions of the law have been renumbered, a table of renumbered provisions gives details of previous and current numbering.

The endnotes also include a table of earlier republications.

If the republished law includes penalties, current information about penalty unit values appears on the republication inside front cover.
