Judicial Commissions Act 1994

A1994-9

Republication No R1A

Effective: 1 September 1999 – 31 May 2000

Republication date: 28 October 2020

Last amendment made by A1999-22

About this republication

The republished law

This is a republication of the Judicial Commissions Act 1994 effective 1 September 1999 to 31 May 2000.

Kinds of republications

The Parliamentary Counsel's Office prepares 2 kinds of republications of ACT laws (see the ACT legislation register at www.legislation.act.gov.au):

- authorised republications to which the Legislation Act 2001 applies
- unauthorised republications.

The status of this republication appears on the bottom of each page.

Editorial changes

The Legislation (Republication) Act 1996, part 3, division 2 authorised the Parliamentary Counsel to make editorial amendments and other changes of a formal nature when preparing a law for republication. Editorial changes do not change the effect of the law, but have effect as if they had been made by an Act commencing on the republication date (see Legislation (Republication) Act 1996, s 14 and s 16). The changes are made if the Parliamentary Counsel considers they are desirable to bring the law into line, or more closely into line, with current legislative drafting practice.

6. Constitution

  - (c) identify the judicial officer concerned; and
  - (d) contain full particulars of the matter the subject of the complaint.
- (3) A member of the Legislative Assembly shall not raise in the Assembly a matter that relates or may relate to the behaviour or physical or mental capacity of a judicial officer—
- (a) except by way of a motion to have a specific allegation made in precise terms in respect of the judicial officer examined by a Judicial Commission; and

(2) The Attorney-General shall notify—

- (a) the complainant or the member of the Legislative Assembly (as the case requires);

- (c) that, even if the matter complained of were proved, it could not amount to misbehaviour or incapacity such as to warrant removal of the judicial officer.

(2) Where the Attorney-General declines to take any action in respect of a complaint for a reason specified in subsection (1), the Attorney-General shall advise the complainant or the member of the Legislative Assembly (as the case may be) accordingly.

18. Resolution by Legislative Assembly

If the Legislative Assembly passes a resolution for the examination of a complaint in respect of a judicial officer by a Judicial Commission, the Executive shall appoint a Judicial Commission to examine the complaint and to submit to the Attorney-General a report of its examination within the period specified by the Executive or within such further period as the Executive, by notice in writing, allows.

(1) When a Commission is appointed to examine a complaint, the judicial officer concerned is, by force of this section, excused from performing any function connected with the relevant judicial office.

(2) A judicial officer who has been excused shall not resume the performance of any such function unless—

- (b) a motion in the Legislative Assembly to require the removal from office of the judicial officer is withdrawn or is not called on within 5 sitting days after the Attorney-General has laid the Commission's report before the Legislative Assembly in accordance with section 23; or

- (b) refer to the evidence or other material on which those findings were based; and
- (c) set out the Commission's conclusion as to whether or not the behaviour or physical or mental capacity of the judicial officer concerned could amount to proved misbehaviour or incapacity such as to warrant his or her removal from office.

(3) If a Commission is of the opinion that, if any of its findings, or any of the evidence given before the Commission, in respect of a person (other than the judicial officer the subject of the complaint) were to be laid before the Legislative Assembly—

- (a) a person who has been or may be charged with an offence may not receive a fair trial for the offence;
- (b) the conduct of an investigation of a breach or possible breach of the law may be prejudiced;
- (c) the existence or identity of a confidential source of information in relation to the enforcement or administration of the law may be disclosed or a person enabled to ascertain the existence or identity of that source; or
- (d) there may be prejudice to the safety or reputation of a person;

the Commission may include those findings or that evidence in a separate report and submit the report to the Attorney-General, together with—

- (e) a statement of its opinion; and
- (f) a recommendation that the report not be laid before the Legislative Assembly.

(4) When submitting a report to the Attorney-General, a Commission shall commit any documents or things (except documents or things required for the purpose of finalising matters under section 30) then in its possession to the custody of the Attorney-General for safekeeping.

(5) The Attorney-General shall accept a recommendation referred to in paragraph (3) (f) unless he or she is satisfied that there are compelling reasons of public policy why the relevant report should be laid before the Legislative Assembly.

23. Tabling reports

(1) The Attorney-General shall, as soon as practicable after receiving a report submitted by a Commission (other than a report in relation to which he or she has accepted a recommendation referred to in paragraph 22 (3) (f)), lay a copy of the report before the Legislative Assembly.

(2) The Attorney-General shall, on laying a copy of the report before the Legislative Assembly, give a copy of that report to—

- (a) the judicial officer the subject of the complaint; and

- (b) where the judicial officer is not a head of jurisdiction—the relevant head of jurisdiction.
- (3) The Attorney-General may also give to the judicial officer the subject of a complaint a copy of a report in accordance with subsection 22 (3) in relation to which the Attorney-General has accepted a recommendation referred to in paragraph 22 (3) (f) if the Attorney-General considers it appropriate to do so.
- (4) The Attorney-General need not inquire whether a condition precedent has been satisfied in relation to a report purporting to have been prepared and submitted in accordance with this Act.
- (5) A person who publishes a report or part of a report that has not been laid before the Legislative Assembly by the Attorney-General is guilty of an offence punishable on conviction—
