Part 1 Preliminary

1 Name of code

This code is the Energy Efficiency (Cost of Living) Improvement Record Keeping and Reporting code of practice.

2 Dictionary

The dictionary at the end of this code is part of this code.

Note 1 The dictionary at the end of this code defines certain terms used in this Code, and may include references (signpost definitions) to other terms defined elsewhere in this Code.

Note 2 A definition in the dictionary (including a signpost definition) applies to the entire code unless the definition, or another provision of the code, provides otherwise or the contrary intention otherwise appears (see Legislation Act, s 155 and s 156 (1)).

Note 3 See the Legislation Act, s 127 (1), (4) and (5) for the legal status of notes.

3 Offences and other consequences of contravening this code

The Energy Efficiency (Cost of Living) Improvement Act 2012 provides offence and other enforcement mechanisms that can result from a contravention of this code.

Offences, other enforcement mechanisms and criminal and civil penalties may apply under other relevant legislation to the recording and reporting of information, such as for fair trading or trade practices, contracts, financial arrangements with consumers, or the undertaking of regulated activities, and can result from a contravention of this code.

Note 1 The Criminal Code, ch 2 applies to all offences against the Act (see Code, pt 2.1). The chapter sets out the general principles of criminal responsibility (including burdens of proof and general defences), and defines terms used for offences to which the Code applies (e.g. conduct, intention, recklessness and strict liability).

Note 2 A reference to an Act includes a reference to the statutory instruments made or in force under the Act, including regulations (see Legislation Act, s 104).

Note 3 See the dictionary to this code for the definition of relevant legislation.

Part 2 Important concepts

4 Object of code

The object of this code is to prescribe requirements for record keeping and reporting obligations for retailers under the Energy Efficiency (Cost of Living) Improvement Act 2012 (the Act). Obligations may also apply to authorised contractors, authorised sellers, authorised installers and consumers to record or report certain information in accordance with this code. A retailer is responsible for the compliance of records and other relevant information made or given by parties contracted or employed by the retailer.

Section 26 of the Act provides that a NERL retailer must keep the records that are necessary for the administrator to determine whether the retailer's energy savings obligations have been complied with. Records must be kept for at least 5 years after the end of the compliance period to which the record relates. Records must be kept in accordance with a relevant approved code of practice. The maximum penalty prescribed for failing to keep records for the required amount of time is 20 penalty units.

This code provides for record keeping and reporting requirements for the Act and for determining compliance with energy savings obligations, including for—

- (a) compliance plans;
- (b) eligible activities;
- (c) compliance period reporting;
- (d) periodic activity reporting;
- (e) independent information audits; and
- (f) information and reporting requests from the administrator.

Note Enquiries about the obligations of retailers under this code should be directed to the administrator at ESDD-EEIS@act.gov.au.

This code is one of a number of instruments, including the Act and the Energy Efficiency (Cost of Living) Improvement (Eligible Activities) Determination, which should be read in conjunction with each other. In the event of inconsistency between this code and the Act, the Act takes precedence to the extent of the inconsistency. All applicable instruments can be found at <http://www.legislation.act.gov.au/a/2012-17/default.asp>.

5 Application to retailers

In this code a reference to a retailer means a NERL retailer as defined in the Energy Efficiency (Cost of Living) Improvement Act 2012, in circumstances where an obligation to keep or provide a record, report or other information relating to a retailer's compliance with that Act applies.

6 Application to authorised contractors

In this code a reference to an authorised contractor is a reference to an entity that is directly contracted by a retailer to provide or arrange the undertaking of eligible activities, other than an employee of a retailer, where an obligation to record or report information under this code applies.

Note An authorised contractor may be an individual (sole trader), company or other business but does not include an employee of the retailer.

7 Application to authorised installers

In this code a reference to an authorised installer is a reference to an individual, whether an employee of, or under direct contract to, a retailer or an authorised contractor, who undertakes an eligible activity on behalf of a retailer, where an obligation to record or report information under this code applies.

Note An authorised installer can only be a natural person. An individual may be both an authorised contractor and an authorised installer.

8 Application to authorised sellers

In this code a reference to an authorised seller is a reference to a business entity that under contract or by other direct arrangement with a retailer or an authorised contractor, undertakes an eligible activity that specifically refers to the purchase of a compliant product but does not require the installation of the product for the activity to be considered complete, where an obligation to record or report information under this code applies.

Note 1 An authorised seller may be an individual (sole trader), company or other business but does not include an employee of the retailer or business.

Note 2 Activities that specifically refer to the purchase of a product are Activity 5.2 Purchase of high efficiency refrigerator or freezer, Activity 5.4 Purchase of high efficiency electric clothes dryer, and Activity 5.6 Purchase of a high efficiency television. These activities do not require an authorised installer to install the product, or for the product to be installed for the activity to be considered complete.

9 Meaning of certain terms—correlation with Act

A term used in this code has the same meaning as the term has in the Energy Efficiency (Cost of Living) Improvement Act 2012, unless this code provides a different meaning for the term.

Note A term used in this code has the same meaning as the term has in the Energy Efficiency (Cost of Living) Improvement Act 2012 (see the Legislation Act, s 148).

Note A reference to a section or subsection is a reference to a section or subsection in this code unless otherwise indicated.

10 Meaning of consumer

In this code a reference to a consumer is a reference to—

- (a) for eligible activities that do not require the installation of a product by an authorised installer, an individual who is a resident of the ACT that purchases the compliant product; or
- (b) for eligible activities that require the installation of a product by an authorised installer, an individual who is—
 - (i) a party to a residential tenancy agreement for the premises; or
 - (ii) a lessee of the residential premises; or
 - (iii) an occupier of the residential premises at least 18 years of age.

Note 1 A consumer is not limited to the person that holds the electricity or gas account for the premises or the lessee (owner). The person named on the individual activity record will generally be determined by which person is involved in contracting for the eligible activity, or is authorised to sign that the eligible activity has been undertaken. For example, if a tenant engages an authorised installer to decommission a refrigerator, install a standby power controller or has permission to arrange for or sign for the installation of a water heater the tenant may be recognised as the consumer. If the lessee (owner) contracts the installation of a water heater in a tenanted property, the lessee may be the consumer.

Note 2 A premises owner may come to an arrangement with a tenant for the undertaking of eligible activities. An authorised installer is not required to view or witness the authorisation provided by a lessee to a tenant.

 - (c) for calculations, a Microsoft Excel document compatible with Microsoft Office Suite 2007 or higher that allows information from the document to be copied.

29 Lodgement of compliance plan

- (1) A compliance plan must be lodged in accordance with section 19 of this code.

30 Incomplete plans and further information

- (1) This section applies to compliance plans required before eligible activities are undertaken in the compliance period.
- (2) Within 3 working days of a compliance plan being received, the administrator must determine if the compliance plan is complete.

Example —incomplete compliance plans

Information on energy savings obligations not included, insufficient information on compliance systems, expected number of installations for each activity not provided.

- (3) If a compliance plan is not complete, the administrator must, as soon as is practicable—
 - (a) inform the retailer that the compliance plan is not lodged; and
 - (b) provide a description of the required information to complete the compliance plan and a reference to the relevant provisions of this code; and
 - (c) inform the retailer that a new and complete compliance plan must be lodged before any eligible activities are undertaken in the compliance period; and
 - (d) inform the retailer of penalties that may apply for failing to comply with section 17 of the Act.
- (4) If a compliance plan is complete, the administrator must confirm in writing to the retailer within 5 working days that the plan is lodged.
- (5) To remove any doubt, a compliance plan is not considered lodged or given until all required information is included in the compliance plan.
- (6) A determination of whether a compliance plan is complete under this section is not an assessment of the accuracy of the information provided in the plan or the likely compliance of the retailer with its energy savings obligation.

Note 1 A retailer is obliged to provide complete and adequate information for the administrator to make an assessment under section 31 of this code. If a retailer is informed that a new compliance plan is required it is the retailer's responsibility to provide the new plan.

Note 2 A retailer commits an offence if it undertakes eligible activities before it lodges a compliance plan for the compliance period. If a retailer undertakes eligible activities prior to receiving confirmation that a plan is lodged, it does so at its own risk.

31 Use of compliance plan

(1) On receipt of a complete compliance plan, the administrator may, based on the information available at the time, assess—

(a) the accuracy of calculations for energy savings obligations and priority household obligations, including allowances for any expected carried forward shortfall or surplus from a previous compliance period; and

Note A compliance plan for the period may be lodged before the energy savings result or any carried forward shortfall or surplus is finalised. However, it is expected that retailers will monitor their progress against their respective targets throughout the compliance period and be able to make a reasonable assessment of any likely carried forward shortfall or surplus for the previous compliance period.

(b) the extent to which the type and volume of eligible activities reported in the compliance plan are likely to contribute to the achievement of the retailer's estimated obligations for the relevant compliance period; and

(c) if the systems and processes as described in the compliance plan satisfy, or are likely to satisfy, the retailer's obligations under the Act.

(2) If an assessment that calculations are not accurate is made under subsection (1) the administrator—

(a) must advise the retailer of the miscalculation in writing within 2 working days of the assessments being made; and

(b) may request a new compliance plan for the period to be lodged within 10 working days of the request.

(3) In requesting a new compliance plan under subsection (2) (a) the administrator must have regards to—

(a) the extent of the miscalculation; and

(b) the degree to which the miscalculation may affect the retailer's planning for, or compliance with, its energy savings obligations.

(4) The administrator may also provide information to the retailer on the assessments made under subsections (1) (b) and (1) (c).

- (5) An assessment under this section does not constitute a determination of an energy savings obligation, priority household obligation, carried forward shortfall or surplus, or the compliance of an eligible activity undertaken by the retailer.

Note The administrator does not approve or endorse compliance plans.

32 Subsequent compliance plans

- (1) A retailer may submit a revised compliance plan (subsequent compliance plan) that provides for the addition of new eligible activities or a change in systems and processes for a compliance period at any time during that period.
- (2) A retailer need not provide subsequent compliance plans unless otherwise required by the Act or this code.
- (3) The administrator may provide an assessment of the compliance plan in a time agreed with the retailer.

Note A retailer is not obliged to prepare and give a subsequent compliance plan if changes to its obligations are made, or if undertaking activities not included in the original plan, if not required to do so by legislation. It is, however, recommended that retailers seek information from the administrator, particularly in relation to undertaking new activities. This section does not limit a retailer from providing similar information to that contained in all or part of a compliance plan separately to seek such advice.

Part 5 Activity records

33 Application of Part 5

The activity records provisions apply to records of eligible activities undertaken and used, or intended to be used, to meet a retailer's energy savings obligation under the Energy Efficiency (Cost of Living) Improvement Act 2012.

34 Activity records

- (1) A retailer must collect and record the information specified in this part in relation to each eligible activity undertaken for the purposes of meeting its energy savings obligation (an activity record).

Note An activity record corresponds to an individual eligible activity.

- (2) A complete activity record must include—
 - (a) all standard information prescribed in sections 41 of this part; and
 - (b) all relevant specific activity information for the eligible activity prescribed in section 54.
- (3) Relevant information for the activity record must be completed at the time the related prescribed activity requirement for the eligible activity is carried out, unless otherwise specified in this code.

Note Certain requirements such as disposal of waste products may occur on a date subsequent to the date of installation of a product. All relevant information about the installation of the product should be completed immediately after the installation has been carried out. Information about the disposal of waste products may be recorded at a later time when it is complete.

- (4) If a format for recording certain information is prescribed that format must be used.
- (5) If more than one format for recording certain information is permitted, or a format is not prescribed, a retailer may choose the format for the information insofar as—
 - (a) the meaning of the information can be clearly inferred in the context of the record; and
 - (b) it meets all requirements for legibility.

Examples of formats

- 1 The type of priority household may be denoted by stating the full category, such as TPI gold repatriation card, or the abbreviation provided in section 44 of 'TG'. The retailer chooses to record information in the abbreviated form.
- 2 Tables, checkboxes, short description of product

35 Activity record forms

- (1) An activity record must be made on a designated activity record form.
- (2) An activity record form must contain fields or sufficient space for recording all required information in relation to the eligible activity.
- (3) Forms must be clearly legible and developed in consideration of Vision Australia's Guidelines for Optimum Legibility, particularly with respect to font choice, text layout and colour choice.

Note Vision Australia's Guidelines for Optimum Legibility can be found at <http://www.visionaustralia.org.au/info.aspx?page=785>.

- (4) The activity record form is part of the activity certification.

Note Further requirements for activity certification are in Part 6 to this code.

- (5) A retailer may include more than one activity record on a single activity record form (a multiple activity record form).
- (6) If a retailer records more than one activity record on a single form—
 - (a) the specific activity information for each eligible activity, other than the installer and consumer declarations, must be co-located on the form; and
 - (b) if more than one installer has carried out the eligible activities, or parts of the activities, each installer must sign an installer declaration; and
 - (c) copies of required documentation that form the activity certification for each eligible activity undertaken and recorded on the form must be attached to the form; and
 - (d) the consumer declaration must relate to all the eligible activities recorded on the form.

Note Different information requirements apply to the different eligible activities. Retailers may customise their own activity record forms to incorporate the different information requirements into the one form. For example, a retailer that intends to install lamps, low flow shower fixture outlets, water heaters, building sealing and standby power controllers may create its own activity record form to capture the different information requirements for all activities.

- (7) For a multiple activity record form, individual activity records for activities included on the form need not be completed for activities that are not undertaken in the premises.

- (8) All activities recorded on a multiple activity record form must be undertaken in respect to the same premises, or for activities not requiring an authorised installer, the same consumer.
 - (9) All relevant information must be recorded on the activity record form before the form is signed by the consumer and the authorised installer or authorised seller.

36 Nomination of a primary installer

- (1) This section applies only if an authorised installer is required to carry out an eligible activity, or certain prescribed activity requirements, for an eligible activity.
- (2) If more than one authorised installer is involved in carrying out an eligible activity or activities, one authorised installer must be identified as the primary installer on the activity record form.
- (3) The primary installer must organise the completion of all relevant sections of the activity record form and the provision of any required information to the consumer.
- (4) As far as is reasonable, the primary installer must review the activity record form for accuracy and completeness before it is signed by, and a copy provided to, the consumer, but is not required to—
 - (a) supervise the work of other authorised installers prior to the signing of the activity record form; or
 - (b) supervise or record subsequent completion of prescribed activity requirements by other authorised installers that must be carried out before an eligible activity is taken to be complete.
- (5) A primary installer may be an individual that is also an authorised contractor.

37 Activity record may affect the determination of obligation

- (1) The administrator may consider the accuracy and completeness of the activity record for the eligible activity in determining whether—
 - (a) a retailer has met its obligations under the Act; and
 - (b) an eligible activity has been completed in accordance with all relevant requirements.
- (2) Information on an activity record form that relates to more than one eligible activity may affect all activities to which it relates.

Examples of information that may relate to one or more activities

Declarations, authorised installer numbers, activities that must be undertaken in conjunction with other activities, installed products such as building sealing products.

38 Copy to be provided to consumer

- (1) An authorised installer or authorised seller, or primary installer if one must be nominated under section 36 of this code, must give a copy of the activity record form to the consumer immediately after the form has been signed by both parties.
- (2) At the time of giving the copy to the consumer, the authorised installer, or authorised seller, or primary installer if one must be nominated under section 36, must ensure that—
 - (a) all relevant information is complete, other than the date of completion for activities that require subsequent activity requirements to be undertaken, such as disposal of removed products at a waste facility or a statutory inspection; and
 - (b) the activity certification documents, other than evidence of destruction or disposal of products if this is to be undertaken after the installer has left the premises, has been provided to the consumer.

 - (4) An activity record must not be used to record work or activities other than that provided in relation to the undertaking or determining suitable eligible activities for the premises.

Note It is recommended that retailers provide a draft of forms they have created to the administrator before they are published and used to avoid the incorrect or incomplete recording of information in relation to an activity or customisation that is not permitted under this section.
