

Australian Capital Territory

Public Place Names (Bruce) Determination 2005 (No 3)

Disallowable instrument DI2005-301

made under the

Public Place Names Act 1989— section 3 (Minister to determine names)

I DETERMINE the names of the public places that are Territory land as specified in the attached schedule and as indicated on the attached plan.

Neil Savery
Delegate of the Minister

20 December 2005

SCHEDULE

Public Place Names (Bruce) Determination 2005 (No 3)

Division of Bruce: Tertiary Education

NAME	ORIGIN	SIGNIFICANCE
Baudinette Circuit	Russell Victor Baudinette (1945-2004)	University Professor and Researcher Russell Victor Baudinette was born in Warrnambool, Vic. He graduated from Monash University in 1969 and undertook a PhD in the School of Biological Sciences at the University of California, Irvine, and a post-doctoral appointment in the Department of Zoology at Duke University, North Carolina. In 1974, he returned to Adelaide, Australia, to begin his academic career during which he served two of South Australia's universities with distinction. At Flinders University, he established a reputation for his passion for research, in particular for his work with Australian marsupials. He was a champion of high quality research and attracted many international visitors to his laboratory. In 1996 he was appointed Professor and Head in the Department of Zoology at the University of Adelaide. When this department merged with the Department of Botany, he became the foundation Head of the new Department of Environmental Biology. His research program flourished, and he was known as an inspiring teacher and a generous mentor to many. Professor Baudinette's research was recognised internationally and included the comparative physiology of animal locomotion. Everything from cockroaches to red kangaroos was trained to walk, run or hop on a laboratory treadmill. Fish and snakes swam in flume tanks, and wombats entertained him in their burrows. He was President of the Comparative Physiology and Biochemistry Section of the International Union of Biological Sciences, and he chaired the Commission on Evolutionary Biology of the International Union of Physiological Sciences. He served on the editorial boards of several scientific journals, including Comparative Biochemistry and Physiology, and chaired the Editorial Advisory Board of the Australian Journal of Zoology. An extinct wallaby species has been named in his honour: Lagostrophus faciatus baudinettii.

SCHEDULE

Public Place Names (Bruce) Determination 2005 (No 3)

Division of Bruce: Tertiary Education

NAME	ORIGIN	SIGNIFICANCE
Funder Street	Kathleen Funder (1941-1998)	Writer, teacher and educational psychologist. Dr Kathleen (Kate) Funder was born at Wonthaggi, Victoria and began her career as a teacher and educational psychologist. Through her membership of the Victorian Psychologists Registration Board, the Research Advisory Committee of the Victorian Association of Family Therapists, as Chair of the Victorian Branch of the Australian Psychological Society, and Chair of the Advisory Committee, Psychology Department, Swinburne University she maintained active interest in these fields throughout her life. From 1983 Kate was a Principal Research Fellow at the Australian Institute of Family Studies. She was recognised both in Australia and internationally for the quality and policy relevance of her research in the field of family studies Kate wrote many publications and notably she was a key author of Settling Up: Property and Income Distribution on Divorce in Australia, she was principal author of Settling Down: Pathways of Parents after Divorce and the sole author of the third book in this trilogy, Remaking Families: Adaptation of Parents and Children to Divorce. Kate was often asked to speak on television and radio programs, at conferences and was a much desired contributor to newspaper columns. These included the International Society for Family Law conferences in Durban, Brussels, Yugoslavia and throughout the United States; those hosted by the National Council on Family Relations in the United States and the Chinese Academy of Social Science in Beijing. Her research had direct practical implications and changed the lives of many, not least through her work in the family law area which included her role as observer on the Family Law Council of Australia, and her membership of the Australian Law Reform Commission Reference on Children and the Law. Other professional affiliations included membership of the Committee on Family Research of the International Sociological Association, and the National Council on Family Relations (United States).

Public Place Names (Bruce) Determination 2005 (No 3)

Division of Bruce: Tertiary Education

NAME	ORIGIN	SIGNIFICANCE
Hohnen Street	Ross Ainsworth Hohnen (1917-2003)	Administrator, Australian National University and community service. Ross Hohnen was born in Arncliffe, NSW, educated at Bexley Public School and Sydney Boys' High after which he worked for the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney. While working for the bank, he studied in the evenings for an economics degree at Sydney University and maintained his sport and scouting activities. In 1940 Ross enlisted in the Australian Imperial Force and saw service in New Guinea and Borneo. He was mentioned in dispatches. Ross was the first registrar of New England University College, Armidale, in 1946. In 1948 he became assistant registrar of the fledgling Australian National University (ANU) and by the following year he was appointed registrar. He created and guided the professional administration of the university during its formative years and period of vigorous growth. He kept the university in touch with and responsive to general developments in the community, especially in relation to industrial design and the arts. He was the Chairman of the Industrial Design Council of Australia and the Australia Council's Community Arts Committee. Ross is considered one of the pioneers of the ANU and was its chief administrator for 27 years. Ross also spread his energies across a wide range of community activities, both national and local, including the Scout Movement, the National Heart Foundation and various arts and educational bodies. On his retirement from the university in 1975, Ross returned to many of his former community activities, including the Scout Movement and the National Heart Foundation. For his services to the Scout Movement he received the Silver Kangaroo Award in 1985 and the Scout President's Citation in 1997. For his services to the National Heart Foundation he received the John Loewenthal Award in 1988. He founded the Heart Research Institute in Sydney in 1988. Ross also played a significant role in the arts and held significant positions in the Canberra School of Music, the Canberra Theatre Trust, the Australia Council, the Crafts Board and the Crafts Council Gallery at The Rocks in Sydney. He was made an Officer of the Order of the British Empire in 1967 and Member of the Order of Australia in 1987. He was also the first Canberran of the Year in 1977.

DIVISION OF BRUCE